Fees

The UGR is a public university. Accordingly, we provide affordable, high-quality education at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. The following information on fees is relevant only for those who wish to undertake a bachelor's degree at the University of Granada in the academic year 2019-2020.

First-time enrolment fees 2019-2020

One ECTS credit currently costs €12.62 (for first-time enrolments only). Given that most bachelor's degrees at the UGR consist of 60 ECTS credits per year — depending on the course you choose — current undergraduate fees amount to approximately €758 per year.*

An additional administrative fee of €59.10 is charged to open your academic record. This fee is only charged once — in your first year of study.

What happens if you do not pass a course?

The rate of €12.62 is only applicable to first-time enrolments. If you do not pass a course in the designated time frame and need to repeat it in a subsequent year, you will be charged at a higher rate. For instance, the ECTS fee rate for second-time enrolments is currently €25.25 per ECTS credit. The table in the link below indicates the ECTS rate for each knowledge area and the corresponding enrolment stage (1st time, 2nd time, 3rd time etc).
