STRATEGY: Seeking practice opportunities

If students want to reach moderate to high proficiency, classroom time cannot usually provide adequate practice opportunities. Therefore, students will need to find additional chances to practice the language and must realize it is up to them to search for these occasions. This strategy underscores students' responsibility to generate their own opportunities to practice.

Eva takes a subscription to Le Monde as a way of pushing herself to practice reading French every day. This is a conscious decision to look for a new chance to practice the target language.
