

DIRECT STRATEGIES: SPEAKING

STRATEGY GROUP: Metacognitive
STRATEGY SET: Arranging and panning your learning
STRATEGY: Organizing

This strategy includes a variety of tools, such as creating the best possible physical environment, scheduling well, and keeping a language learning. It is especially important to establish a good environment in order to develop the four skills in a higher level. While reading or writing need a more peaceful or comfortable setting, as well as listening requires a silent place in order to obtain as much information as possible, speaking can be established everywhere. Student should be sure in developing a practical weekly schedule for language learning, with plenty of time devoted to outside-of-class practice in the language skills. Finally, a language learning notebook is an excellent organizational aid to learners.